Pediatric Hepatitis Report

We at PKIDs are proud to present this second edition of the Pediatric Hepatitis Report. There will be more editions down the road, as this is by nature a living document that evolves as science makes strides in the research of viral hepatitis in the pediatric population.

Without the help of hundreds of talented individuals, it would have been impossible to complete this report. There are people who've helped us whose names are not on this printed list. That omission is not deliberate, but rather from our own clumsiness in losing important pieces of paper and we apologize.

Without the funding and support of the CDC and the generous men and women in the Division of Viral Hepatitis, this would have been an impossible task—Dr. Harold Margolis, Linda Moyer and Richard Conlon were of particular help. Within PKIDs are three individuals without whom this publication would never have been finished—Christine Kukka was the managing editor and lead writer of the first edition, Dr. Lynda Brady was the medical editor and Dr. Phil Rosenthal was the medical advisor. We do not name the other writers, researchers and copy editors elsewhere in this publication, but we are deeply grateful to Mylei Basich, Franji Mayes, Kris McCormick, Maureen Kamischke, Marie Blattner, Kristen Curtis and Lynn Tyleczak for their exemplary work and to the many parents who contributed their stories and reviewed the materials throughout the process.

We are indebted to the following individuals who cheerfully gave us hours of their time and we say thank you to Dr. Greg Armstrong, epidemiologist, Division of Viral Hepatitis, National Center for Infectious Diseases; Dr. Craig Barash, Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology, Thomas Jefferson University, Philadelphia, Pa.; Lauren Belliveau, Reference and Research Assistant, Embassy of Australia; Steve Bingham, Co-owner, Hepatitis B Information and Support List, Researcher, PKIDs' Archives; Dr. Flavia Bortolotti, Internist, Internal Medicine Ward for Adult Patients, University of Padua, Italy; Dr. Lynda Brady, pediatric hepatologist, University of Chicago Children's Hospital; Paul S.
